TYPETIPS to help your speed and accuracy

Typewriting champions would give you two mottoes:--

. "Never let your left hand know what your right hand does":

"Let each finger mind its own.business."

These are admirable tips which every girl should take as stock maxims.

The latter is particularly suitable. It must be remembered that 120 words a minute means ten key-taps each second, so that each finger has four-hundredths of a second to rest on a key and DUKE REFUSES of a second to rest on a key and only six-hundredths of a second lelapse before the next correct l finger must unerringly strike.

Of course, the girl who was well trained has an advantage, for poor habits are difficult to alter, but anybody can try to improve. It is intense daily practice that brings progress.

Watch two points, however. First, the practice must be with a definite object; all haphazard striving is useless. Then, if you have observed this guide, for the rest of the day it does not matter how much slower the work is done provided first-time accurricy is maintained at the highest possible level.

The foundation of all good typewriting is efficient direction of energy.

You Can wash your tinsel dance frocks

Some striking entries in the Telegraph Amateur Photographic Competition will be reproduced in to-morrow's issue of the Pictorial Supplement.

The recent wedding of Mr. J. H. S. Duncan and Miss Helen Wylie will be illustrated, as will also the King's Birthday Review at Happy Valley.

Personalities whose photographs will appear will include the Chief Justice and Lady MacGregor snapped on their arrival from Home leave, and there will also be a group of members of the Royal Naval Dockward Rifle Club.

'The Supplement will contain the popular entertainment and feature pages, the result of last week's Children's Competition, together with a new contest for the kiddies.

MARKET IRREGULAR YESTERDAY

New York commodity exchange are New York, June 25." Swan, Culbertson & Fritz Dow Jones summary of yesterday's markets:-The market to-day was irregularly lower, alarmed by the situation ahead of industry. Traders sold steels shares, which had an unsettling effect on the entire market after a substantial rise early in the day. Rubber shares succumbed to reports that the anticipated advance in tyre prices will not materialise. Motor, stocks started, buoyantly, but they soon-slumped. Utility securities gave ground grudgingly. Mailsorder, farm, aviation, chemical and copper shares declined, but oils advanced in spite of the absence of favourable news. The market was steadier and quieter, towards the close. The market for bonds was lower, whilst Curb stocks were irregularly lower. S. C. & F. New York Office cables;

Stocks: This market was under the pressure of profit-taking. We expect further irregularity. Cotton: The market ignored the FOOCHOW 65 1; /65 % generally favourable crop condition. The strength on reactions was im-835; /835; pressive, "Spot" cotton was scarce and there was a good demand.

Wheat: There is no relief in the North-West drought, but in parts conditions are cloudy and cooler. A forecast of the weather, however, indicates favourable conditions Progress of the Canadian crops is at present favourable and this is becoming a market factor, due to the nearness of the import basis. Rubber: This market was without any special feature. The Trade was moderate buyer. Hides: Early in the day, 152,000 hides for July delivery were offered, in additional to the Government hos-

S. C. & F. Wall Street Journal morning comment:-"The International Harvester Company is likely to increase its common dividends. There is a strong investment demand for chemical stocks. LONDON, HEAT WAVE CHILDREN USE STREET TRENCH AS WATER POOL

London, June 25. London is suffering under a heat

A delightful story is related in the Daily Telegraph in which it is stated that the water-main in a street in London under repair necessitated digging a deep trench for the purpose. When the workmen knocked off work in the evening, the children living near-by saw an opportunity too good to be missed. They opened the cock in the watermain and filled the trench with thousands of gallons

When the authorities came on the scene they found the trench a veritable swimming pool with children disporting themselves in the cooling waters .- Reuter's Special.

Before leaving Hongkong, I wish to record my appreciation of the splendid results secured through advertising in the "Post" and the "Telegraph."

My experience of newspaper adver-Fress, and I congratulate you on the "pulling," power" of your advortising columns. I have never known quicker response nor a higher percentage of sales from contacts. Every firm of chemists and the majority of stores in Hongkong have taken up "Ti-Tree 011 Soap."

I would also thank you for the ready advice and assistance when I presented my oredentials to you. It is indeed a pleasant experience to enter a new territory with such an effective backing as that provided by your excollent organisation.

I shall certainly advise Australian manufacturers who propose to develop trade in South China to first seek your co-operation.

THE NEW BEACH REGULATIONS

The public, apart from dog-

The 'new' regulations, as present issued; insist on all dogs being on leads when taken to the beaches, but it is evident that the Government is prepared to ban these animals from public beaches altogether. We hope to tory. see the prohibition made law proach to what we call civilisawhen the Bill dealing with the tion. subject again comes before the Legislative Council at its next meeting. Not only are dogs a even telerate the presence of nuisance and an annoyance on beaches; they are also a distinct source of danger, for reasons which are apparent to anyone who gives serious thought to the matter. In its proposals for the better regulation of beaches, the Government policy in respect of the use of tents and similar structures will not, however, command general approval. The problem of political refugees is one that is agitating many countries in and out of the Far East. A Paris Correspondent I reveals that France alone is harbouring 2,000,000 such refugees.

WO million political refugees are living in France to-day-one for every twenty people in the country. Refugees are so numerous in Paris that an average bus-load of 36 passengers contains at least two.

They are Russians, Georgians, Armenians, Assyro-Chaldeans and Germans, as well as some Poles, Hungarians, Italians and Spanish grandees. They have been arriving since sometimes in waves, sometimes only a few at a time. Political upheavals and the cruel tyranny of dictators have forced them, to leave their homes, their work and their friends, sometimes even their children and parents, husbands or wives. The first exiles began drifting round the Balkans, and later through Germany, away from the Russian Revolution. The White Terror drove Hungarians from their homes in 1920, after the collapse of Bela Kun. Two years later the Fascists marched on Rome, and Italians crowded across the frontier.

Almost at the same time, the Turkish Revolution swept a million Greeks out of Asia and Armenians—those who escaped massacre—out of Armenia. The Assyro-Chaldeans fled at the same time. Marshal Pilsudski's coup d'etat was the signal for an exodus from Poland in 1926.

Then the flight from persecution slowed up for a time, until the end of 1932, when many Germans began to recognise Hitler's hour was at hand, and they were best away. The great wave started in the general interests of the com- the following March, when Hitler had seized power. little to say for the courage of the

But objective examination of the question reveals that France has done more for them than most countries. She has more than a million of her own unemployed, only a third of whom are receiving relief; the burdens on national finances are such that the Budget cannot be balanced.

The bulk of the refugees belong just to those trades and professions that are suffering most in France from overcrowding and unemployment-in other words, the refugees are not only economically uscless, but are a heavy burden.

A few, such as the Oustachis and the Spanish royalists, have presented a serious political problem for France by getting her into trouble with her friends and neighbours. Proportionately foreigners commit twice as many crimes in France as Frenchmen. One refugee assassinated a President of the Republic.

ENERALLY speaking, she has stood by the others and protected the most deserving with determination. .Unlike the United States, for example, France has refused persistently to surrender the German refugees whose extradition has been sought for Nazi vengeance. France has granted naturalisa-

tion with such facility in the past, that the authorities are now compelled to slow it up for fear of an actual preponderance of foreigners over French people in some districts. Most manual workers among the refugees receive unemployment relief on the same terms as Frenchmen.

The State hospitals of Paris treat 24,000 foreigners free every year, the majority being refugees. The Government has issued a postage stamp, 40 per cent, of the receipts of which go as a voluntary contribution to the Nansen Office for Refugees.

CILL, conditions are certainly not ideal. There Vare wretchedly poor fellows who never learned to work before they went into exile and who must now beg for a living during the daytime and sleep in the damp cellars of half-built apartment blocks round the walls of Paris at night.

Occasionally they commit suicide; more frequently they are taken to hospital suffering from injuries received in a brawl over a crust, or dying from exposure. These are White Raissians,

There are also refugees at the other and of the scale-wealthy Russian and German fluanciers; prosperous and successful doctors who managed to smuggle their money away in time and who live as comfortably here as ever they did in Petrograd or Berlin.

Most of the refugees are between these two extremes. They are heattered all over the country, and exercise an infinity of trades. The biggest group is that of the Russians, who live in Languedoc or in the mild climate of the Riviera. pleasantly reminiscent of the Crimea, where " in the good old days" they owned sumptuous holi-

These refugees are on the Russian farms around Toulouse, or, in the "Cossak Villages"—as the agricultural colonies are calledbetween Cannes and Grasse. The older people do not work, if they can help it—they never learned to work. The younger ones cultivate . the land and are happier than their ancestors. The Russians in Paris live a different life. The princesses become mannequins or stenographers, according to their personal charm. The princes on the same principle -sell motor-ears or promote

They are all devout and have no fewer than twenty-five churches of their own in and around Paris alone, as well as a theological institute. They have two daily newspapers and more than 150 non-political associations, ranging from that of the walters to that of the professors.

ETHOUGH equally given to noisy political dis-L'Acussion, the German refugees are of a different stamp. Most of them are unused to working with their hands, though not. with their brains, for they are intellectuals.

There are two kinds of Italian refugees, the intellectuals and the manual workers. The former arrived in France before the serious overcrowding of the professions began, and did not do too badly. The others have settled down as farm workers, and life presents no further difficulties for them. Their standard of living is materially higher than it was in Italy, and there is no Duce.

THE Armenians and Assyro-Chaldeans have settled down in the same way, and the Polish refugees have been successfully absorbed into industry and com-

KASSEL WANTED WAS MURDER FOR

Paris, June 3. MAITRE JEAN CHARLES of the drain by Mary: French lawyer who is defending Roger Vernon alias Charles Cacroix, charged in Paris with the murder in January last of Max Kassel told to-day of the latest developments in the case.

. The body of Max Kassel was found at the roadside near St. Albars on January 24, where it was aleged to have been taken by car after Kassel had been shot in n home in Little Newport-street.

Maite Legrand stated:

"Sine my visit to London shortly ifter the discovery of the crime, I have received much evidence abut the character of Max Kassel with will help me in my Case.

"I intent to prove that he was killed in 'elf defence. What I have just (scovered shows that Kassel was a man of even worse character that I at first thought. The reason, a fact, that he left Canada between 1930 and 1932 was that he was wanted for

Cried a testy old Scot at Kinfauld. My toothbrush is age gaen bald. Said his clever young son. Mon. I'll tell you of one That won't - and a Tek's what it's called.

Once you've tried a Tek you will realise it's an investment. For Tek toothbrushes last. The bristles 'stay put' because they are 'locked' in. Only the best part of the best bristles are used in making a Tek. Tek is the original short-headed brush designed by dentists. The special shape of the Tek head is 'protected' and cannot be copied. And the impor- . tance of a Tek to your teeth lies in the fact that the head is shaped to fit exactly the curve of your jaw. This means it gets at and thoroughly cleanses all those crevices from behind.

CAPTAIN FOSTER CONCLUDES RACING REVIEW

FINE RECORD MR. PIH

STAKE WINNERS IN ALL THE CLASSES

COMPREHENSIVE STATISTICS

Congratulations are due to Mr. H. C. Pili upon heading the list of juckeys for the first half of the racing season with 16 wins, 14 seconds and 13 thirds.

If may be interesting to know that

Mr. Pih scored at every meeting.

Mr. Leo Frost, whothad Mr. and
Mrs. L. Dunbar's string of ponies at this disposal, was not seen in the saddle after the Annual Carnival as he was operated on for appendicitis, but, Mr. D. Black reaped the benefit of the "Bays" stable to finish secondwith 13 firsts, 19 seconds and nine thirds.

Mr. Deltz has the same number of wire as Mr. Black but the latter has a few more seconds; nevertheless the former was the only jockey to score a "hat trick" at the second extra meeting run on March 28.

Rose Evelyn was "Miss Champion" of the first half with Wild Cat and Complete statistics of placed jockeys Gold Sovereign following in the rear. These sub-griffins' races gave us a lot of thrills with the usual decent returns of good dividends, but the form of the ponies, especially after the middle of the racing season, was so well gauged by the betting public, assisted by the publication of training times, that the dividends during the rest of the Meetings were on the small side.

mare heads the Griffins list with a balance of $4,665 to her credit, Honeymoon Eve was exceedingly lucky to win the much coveted Hongkong Derby owing to the boring in of King's Lend towards the rails, and Mr. Gilbert Harriman should be proud of the auccesses of Royal Scat who not only collected $3,545 but cap-tured the American Club Cup and St. George's Plate for the owner. It was indeed a pleasure to see

Royal Scot romping home in Shing Mun Handienp not merely because of all the nice things I had written about her, but, on account of the popularity of the mare coupled with the jockey Mr. Deitz. It will be recalled that there were some controversial arguments over the promotion of Royal It may be of interest to know that | Scot from "C" to "A" standard withfunctioning. the recess. Hetman did not, don the silk of Dynasty's stable after the Annual Carnival the "wet" track putting him out of action.

King's Justice holds the record of having started 13 times during the first half and he certainly has no objection to any sort of going. After trying hard for three years, it was a local jockey who steered Bistre to victory in the Garrison Cup and for this Mr. S. Y. Liang deserves a good pat on the back.

Tiny Star under the able guidance of Mr. D. S. Li ran well to annex the Royal Navy Cup, but, Mrs. Pearce's Wadebridge, who was the champion; sub-griffin of last year failed to strike his usual form and finished the season with no win to his credit.

"SEEDED" THREE WIMBLEDON

Landon, June 25. Jenn Borotra, volatile Frenchman hero of a hundred famous tennis battles and the world's busiest tennis player, staged a characteristic appearance at Wimbledon to-day, arriving in the changing room at 2 o'clock after a dash across the Channel, and after taking four inlinutes in which to ! change into his flannels, helped Jacques Brugnon to beat H. Fisher and F. Kukuljevitch in the second round of the men's doubles.

Almost immediately afterwards Borotra was called upon to play with Miss Susan Noel in the mixed doubles, NO LAWN BOWLS and without any ado, the Frenchman took the court and helped to beat L. de Borman and Miss, Nellie Adamson of Belgium after a fine three set

WITH picturesque ceremony, in accordance with the precedent of conturies, the Coronation was proclaimed in London this month.

Four times the proclamation was read—first from a balcony in Friary Court, St. James's; then at Charing Cross; thirdly at the corner of Fleet-street and Chancery-lane; and finally at the Royal Exchange. The heralds rode in procession from point to point; and a fifth picturesque ceremony was their reception by the Lord Mayor at Temple Bar.

WEDDING GIFTS HELP TO EQUIP HONEYMOON SCHOONER

London, June 15.

CHOALS', of letters from young men thirsting for adventure have been received by Mr. Adrian Seligman, who is in search of companions for a sailing trip he and his bride are to make to the South Seas.

Mr. Seligman, a 26-year-old Cambridge graduate, who for the past few years has been sailing the seven seas, advertised for six men between the ages of 18 and 30 who could put up £100 to join him as crew; he may now have to extend this number to eight.

By the first post yesterday he received 60 letters, and one man, an artisan, had journeyed from the Midlands in his eagerness for an inter-

AS SEEN ON FILMS

Not all the writers can afford the £100, and many beg to be signed on under any conditions -to do the most menial jobs.

 Some describe themselves as "adventure-starved"; others have been fired by the glamour of the south Seas as seen on films. Another man has $10 left in the world and a sweepstake ticket. He wants a place kept open for him till the last minute. One woman-there were three women applicantsgave tragic reasons for wanting to get away from civilisation. "It will be a difficult job making a selection," Mr. Seligman told a London newspaper yesterday. "So many applicants seem suitable. What we do need badly are a young doctor and a botanist."

Mr. Seligman and Miss. Jane Batterbury are to be married to-morrow afternoon at St. Mary's Church, Wimbledon. Many of their wedding presents have been chosen with a view to this trip in a 150-ton schooner, chief among them being a ship's library.

Betty Blossom for several years has been giving her "torch dance" in San Francisco night clubs. The speciacular finale is her appearance surrounded by blazing torches and a "fire-eating" finish. Recently one of her torches ignited flimsy draperies in a night club, turning the place into a raging inferno. Four persons were killed and 11 injured in the panic that followed.

UP DEPOT

Manila, June 25. A plot to blow up the dynamite depot of the British-owned Smith Bell Company was folled by the police, who receiving information at the last moment, raced from the city to the depot and discovered a quantity of petrol-soaked rags with tins of petrol. The depot contained 10,000 cases of dynamite enough to blow up the neighbouring villages. A similar incident occurred a few days ago, when a bomb exploded beside an oil tank owned by the Secony-Vacuum Corporation, but however did no damage The attempts are believed to be the work of Political extremists. He was asked whether it was his intention to give immediate notice of termination of all trade agreements which could be terminated by the end of the current year by giving six months notice. Replying, he said he presumed the question referred to agreements affecting import facili-ties accorded in the United Kingdom to certain foreign agricultural and fishery, products. The Government proposed to open negotiations with the countries concerned with a view to modifying these agreements. The primary object would be to render possible certain changes in agricultural policy at the enrliest practicable date.

The Government intended to proceed with negotiations as rapidly as nossibile as moon as necessary preparatory work could be completed. Meanwhile denunication of existing agreements would be premature and unnecessary .- British Wireless.

Did you know the Answers?

1. One way of making the milk more digestible is to add a little water to it. Another way is to let the milk boil when you heat it. This makes it easier to digest. In the usual way milk should only be well heated and not allowed to boil. 2. It is best to test a piece of the material first. (For this purpose always keep an extra scrap by you.) Otherwise steep the garment in cald, well-nulted water before washing it. For the washing use only lukewarm water and make the final ringa a cold one. 3. TYPETIPS. to help your speed and accuracy

Typewriting champions wou give you two mottoes:-

These are "admirable tips which every girl should take as stock maxims.

The latter is particularly suitable. It must be remembered that 120 words a minute means ten key-taps each second, so that. each finger has four-hundredths of a second to rest on a key and only six-hundredths of a second lelapse before the next correct finger must unerringly strike.

Of course, the girl who was well trained has an advantage, for poor habits are difficult to alter, but anybody can try to improve. It is intense daily practice that brings progress.

Watch two points, however. First, the practice must be with a definite object; all haphazard striving is useless. Then, if you have observed this guide, for the rest of the day it does not matter how much slower the work is done provided first-time accuracy is maintained at the highest possible level.

The foundation of all good typewriting is efficient direction

British Women the Blonde's £14,000

THE suggestion made in Parliament that a tax should be imposed on cosmetics has caused inquiry into the size of the industries that centre on women's beauty in Britain.

No official statistics are kept, but the following facts are the result of careful research and may be taken as correct:-

British women spend far less on cosmetics than American women, and less also than the women of almost any great nation of Europe.

The British industries making face powder, face creams, lipstick, eyebrow pencils, perfume, and mascara do not employ more than 10,000 people.

The amount British women spend on these things is about £18,000,000 a year.

Every chemist's shop in the land sells on an average £20 worth of cosmetics a week. The rest is spent in the 47,000 hairdressing saloons which the population supports. These saloons sell their £3,000,000 of cosmetics only as a sideline. Their real business, haircutting and waving, is far bigger.

Of the £18,000,000; face-powder and cream (it is said) account for about £12,000,000.

BIRTH CONTROL IN CATHOLIC CHURCH

Coronado, Cal., June 20. THE only method of birth L control sanctioned by the Pope and the post office department was exhibited publicly for the first time at the California Medical Association convention held here.

It was a two-inch square of cardboard with circles of dates and months printed on its surface, covered by a revolving celluloid disc on which is printed information pertaining to sterility and fertility during rhythmical circles. 🦠

Doctors crowded around the exhibit, twirled the cardboard

disc which is supposed to tell when conception can be accomplished as well as when it can not, and argued about whether it was practical.

Some 75 bought them.
Officially, the association took no notice of the device beyond allowing it exhibit space and was expected to take no stand on the matter.

In section meetings of the 65th annual convention, sucgery by which it is possible to mould an unshapely body to nermal proportions when ail other methods of diet and. exercise have failed drew applause of attending surgeons.

BEAUTIFUL Swedish girl who spent £14,000 on buying love philtres and magic potions, in a vain endeavour to retain the affection of a wealthy banker whom she hoped to marry, has just brought an extraordinary action against a fashionable fortune-teller in NO WASTE-NO RIND the West End of Paris.

She told the police that five years ago, when she was 20, she met the banker and for the first time in her life fell in love. For two years she was completely happy in her friendship with this man who was very generous, and she hoped that one day they would be married.

"There came a day, however, when I noticed that he seemed to be cooling in his affections," she said. "I became anxious, and asked the advice of a friend. He advised me to consult a certain fortune-teller, in whom he had the greatest of confidence.

1250 PAYMENT.

"I went to her, and she told me that her powers were so extraordinary that she would be able to ensure that I held the affections of the banker.

"She prepared for me little anchets of magic powder, for which she charged £40 a time. I visited her int least once a week, and in addition to obtaining these magic sachets and other secret preparations I paid her heavily for her advice.

"On one occasion, when my friend was showing marked signs of losing interest in me, I gave her £250 for a special consultation.

The girl, an exquisitely dressed blonde, admitted that the money she Invished so freely on the fortune-teller was taken from the very generous gifts, which her admirer gave her from time to time. Suddenly the banker ended the friendship and told her that they could never be married. Realising that she had spent £14,000 in vain, the girl hastened to her lawyer. An immediate result of her action is that the income-tax authorities propose to take action against the fortune-teller for not declaring the true contents of her greatly swellen bank account.

TRANSVAAL'S GOLD STILL LEADS WORLD

THE Transvaal is still easily . the biggest gold producing area, with an estimated output for 1935 of 10,768,000 ounces. This is 36 per cent, of the world total and 280,000 ounces in excess of the 1934 production, according to statistics published recently.

·Russia retains second place with an output of 5,000,000 ounces, the United States is put third with 3,532,000, and Canada fourth with 3,254,000. The output of Russin, it is pointed out, has been trobled in the last five

JAPAN AS WORLD'S DRUG MENACE "UNFRIENDLY ACT"

Geneva, June 15. SCATHING attack on Japan, accusing the Tokio Government of facilitating the drug traffic in Asia and in North America, was delivered here to-day when Mr. S. J. Fuller, the United States representative, addressed the Opium Advisory Committee of the League of Nations.

Mr. Fuller, whose criticism because I have been brought to was supported by Major Coles, regard this failure to discipline and the British delegate, went so far in China as to describe Japan's "tolerance" of the drug traffic as "and unfriendly act" towards the

New York, June 25. Swan. Culbertson & Fritz Dow Jones summary of yesterday's markets:-The market to-day was irregularly lower, alarmed by the situation ahead of industry. Traders sold steels shares, which had an unacttling effect on the entire market after a substantial rise early, in the day. Rubber shares succumbed to reports that the anticipated advance in tyre prices will not materialise. Motor stocks started buoyantly, but they soon slumped. S. C. & F. Wall Street Journal morning comment:-"The International Harvester Company is likely to increase its common dividends. There is a strong investment demand for chemical stocks. Wall Street is discussing the possibility of many increased dividends, due to the new Tax Bill. The Street is bullish regarding tyre shares, in spite of the fact that the Trade reports that a price advance is not imminent. The strength of sugar shares reflects the consistently bullish trade news. It is gossipped that a London group is interested in Chrysler shares."

owners who consider their own predilections more than they do the general interests of the community, will welcome Government's measures in respect of dogs on public beaches The new regulations, as at present issued, insist on all dogs being on leads when taken to the beaches, but it is evident that the Government is prepared to ban these animals from public beaches altogether. We hope to see the prohibition made law when the Bill dealing with the subject again comes before the Legislative Council at its next refugees, often by foreigners meeting. Not only are dogs a nuisance and an annoyance on beaches; they are also a distinct source of danger, for reasons which are apparent to anyone who gives serious thought to the matter. In its proposals for the better regulation of beaches, the. Government policy in respect of the use of tents and similar structures will not, however, command general approval. In to such parts of the beachesbrief, private tents on matshed obviously not the most conbeaches will only be allowed in venient pants—as are unspecial areas allotted and occupied by sheds, whilst at marked off; no tents are to be Repulse Bay, which is the most permitted in front of matsheds accessible beach on the island, at the public beaches; whilst at no tents whatever are to be Repulse Bay there will be no allowed. The problem of political refugees is one that is agitating many countries in and out of the Far East. A Paris Correspondent reveals that France alone is harbouring 2,000,000 such refugees.

WO million political refugees are living in France to-day—one for every twenty people in the country. Refugees are so numerous in Paris that an average bus-load of 30 passengers contains at least two.

They are Russians, Georgians, Armenians, Assyro-Chaldeans and Germans, as well as some Poles, Hungarians, Italians and Spanish grandees.

They have been arriving since 1917, sometimes in great, waves, sometimes only a few at a time. Political upheavals and the cruel tyranny of dictators have forced them to leave their homes their work and their friends, 'sometimes husbands or wives. The first exiles began drifting round the Balkans, and later through Germany, away from the Russian Revolution. The White Terror drove Hungarians from their homes in 1920, after the col-

Rome, and Italians crowded across the frontler.

Almost at the same time, the Turkish Revolution swept a million Greeks out of Asia and Armenians—those who escaped massacre—out of Armenia. The Assyro-Chaldeans fled at the same time. Marshal Pilsudski's coup d'ctat was the signal for an exodus from Poland in 1926.

Then the flight from persecution slowed up for a time, until the end of 1932, when many Germans began to recognise Hitler's hour was at hand, and they were best away. The great wave started in the following March, when Hitler had seized power. The exodusfrom Germany has gone on ever since, intensified for a time after the Saar Plebiscite, when Max Braun retreated before the Brown Scourge with the remnants of German democracy.

TWAHIS steady march of the hunted is one of the grimmest things in history. That it should occur in the twentieth century is, a re-

France has been accused of harshness in its dealings with whose own Governments will not even tolerate the presence of refugees, let alone maintain them. No one would say that the lot of France's two million refugees was ideal. If it were, there would be little to say for the courage of the

But objective examination of the question reveals that France has done more for them than most countries. She has more than a million of her own unemployed, only a third of whom are receiving relief; the burdens on national finances are such that the Budget cannot be balanced.

The bulk of the refugees belongjust to those trades and professions that are suffering most in France from overcrowding and unemployment—in other words, the refugees are not only economically useless, but are a heavy burden.

A few, such as the Oustachis and the Spanish royalists, have presented a serious political problem for France by getting her into trouble with her friends and neighbours. Proportionately foreigners commit twice as many crimes in France as Frenchmen. One refugee assassinated a President of the Republic.

GENERALLY speaking, she has stood by the others and protected the most deserving with determination. Unlike the United States, for example, France has refused persistently to surrender the German refugees whose extradition has been sought for Nazi vengeance. France has granted naturalisa-

tion with such facility in the past, that the authorities are now compelled to slow it up for fear of an actual preponderance of foreigners over French people in some districts. Most - manual workers among the refugees receive unemployment relief on the same terms as Frenchmen.

The State hospitals of Paris treat 24,000 foreigners free every year, the majority being refugees. The Government has issued a postage stamp, 40 per cent. of the receipts of which go as a voluntary contribution to the Nansen Office for Refugees.

Stainly not ideal. There are wretchedly poor fellows who never learned to work before they went into exile and who must now beg for a llving during the daytime and sleep in the damp cellars of half-built apartment blocks round the walls of Paris at night. Occasionally they commit suicide; more frequently they are taken to hospital suffering from injuries received in a brawl over a crust, or dylng from exposuré. These are White Russians: There are also refugees at the other end of the scale-wealthy Russian and German financiers, prosperous and successful doctors who managed to smuggle their money away in time and who live as comfortably here as ever they did in Petrograd or Berlin.

Most of the refugees are between these two extremes. They are scattered all over the country, and exercise an infinity of trades. The biggest group is that of the Russians, who live in Languedoc or in the mild climate of the Riviera; pleasantly reminiscent of the Crimen, where "in the good old days "they owned sumptuous holiRefugees from Nazidom who have found sanctuary in France being supplied with a meal at Toulouse.

day villas (now rest-houses for workers and Soviet Intellectuals).

These refugees are on the Russian farms around Toulouse, or in the "Cossak Villages"—as the agricultural colonies are calledbetween Cannes and Grasse. The older people do not work, if they can help it—they never learned to work. The younger ones cultivate the land and are happier than their ancestors.

The Russians in Parisdive a different life. The princesses become mannequins or stenographers, according to their personal charm. The princes—on the same principle -sell motor-cars or promote TOARY old generals drive taxi-cabs in the day-Atime, most recklessly, and at night meet to decide who was responsible for letting the Belsheviks win and who is to lead the mythical army gloriously back to Moscow - "when the time comes." Sometimes they strike, with their French brothers-of-thewheel, for better pay,

In many trades the Russians have their own unions, divideduntil recently-in allegiance between the orthodox T.U.C. and (Inexplicably enough) the French Communist.T.U.C. They are all devout and have no fewer than twenty-five churches of their own, in and around Paris alone, as well as a theological institute. They have two daily newspapers and . more than 150 non-political associations, ranging from that of the waiters to that of the professors.

The Saarlanders have been placed by the French authorities on communal farms or similar colonies, as far as possible. Most of them were trained to work with their hands. These colonies are at Roche-sur-Yon, Caen, Ancenls, Montauban and near the Russlans, at Toulouse.

There are two kinds of Italian refugees, the intellectuals and the manual workers. The former arrived in France before the serious overcrowding of the professions began, and did not do too badly. The others have settled down as farm workers, and life presents no further difficulties for them. Their standard of living is materially higher than, it was in Italy, and there'is no Duce.

'Armenians , and Assyro-Chaldeans have settled down in the same way, and the Polish refugees have been successfully absorbed into industry and com-

The Spanlards are changing more or less continually. Before the Revolution, exiles of the Left made their home in France. When their cause prevailed, they dashed back jubilantly to Madrid. Their train crossed at the frontier the train that was bringing the ex-Queen and her triends into exile.

Subsequently, the Fascist reaction brought many of the Left people back to join the Royalists in exile. The last election sent them back again, while the Duc d'Albe and Juan March hurried across the frontier in France. . Most of France's refugees will never return to their homes.

Jumping over a cliff. The man was Maurice Lambert aged 20, of Valley-view, Jesmond and he was still suffering from injuries received in the cliff fail. He was sent to prison for three months. The girl, Mary Grace, employed at Gosforth, was put on probation for two years on condition that she entered a convent. This was the remarkable account of the drama given to the magistrate

"We went into the nursery of my employer's house, put cushlons on the floor, turned on the gas fire, and stayed there for tsome hours, but the gas did not seem to have any effect. . . "In the early hours of the morning we went downstairs and found a bottle of poison which. we tasted. I drank it, but it only gave me a pain. . . . " CRY OF "MARY"

They then decided to go to Craghall Dene (the statement went on) and throw themselves over the cliff. They drove there in the girl's employer's 'enr. and: ".

"After saying: 'It takes guts to do this,' Maurice went over. . . .:

the cliff-side. "We were unable to restart the car, and were walking along the Jesmond Road when we met a policeman who took Maurice to

Congratulations are due to Mr. H.C. Pih upon heading the lift of jockeys for the first half of the racing senson with 16 wins, 14 seconds and 13 thirds, It may be interesting to know that Mr. Pih scored at every meeting.

Mr. Leo Frost, who had Mr. and AFINE. Mrs. L. Dunbar's string of ponies at his disposal, was not seen in the saddle after the Annual Carnival as he was operated on for appendicitis, but, Mr. D. Black reaped the benefit of the "Bays" stable to finish second with 13 firsts, 19 seconds and nine

HONEYMOON EVE TOPS GRIFFINS

Royal Scot Was Good

Although Sir Victor Sassoon's dun mare heads the Griffins list with a balance of $4,665 to her credit, Honeymoon Eve was exceedingly lucky to win the much coveted Hongkong Derby owing to the boring in of King's Lead towards the rails, and Mr. Gilbert Harriman should be proud of the successes of Royal Scot who not only collected $3,545 but captured the American Club Cup and St. George's Plate for the owner. It was indeed a pleasure to see

Royal Scot romping home in Shing Mun Handicap not merely because of all the nice things I had written about her, but, on account of the popularity of the mare coupled with the jockey Mr. Deitz. It will be recalled that there were some controversial arguments over the promotion of Royal . It may be of interest to know that Scot from "C" to "A" standard with-

Liberty Bay maintained his un-It will be seen that Rose Evelyn he earned this year namely $5,100 the whole Liberty Bay is not a bad

'un to own! Although she has only won $1,650, Dinna Bay has certainly staged a wonderful comeback, but, Mrs. Pearce's Trentbridge, who it will be remembered dead-heated with Mr. Dunbar's grey mare in the New Stables Plate at 1935 Annual Meeting, has not appeared in public over a year and it is hoped he will show up after the recess. Hetman did not don the silk of Dynasty's stable after the Annual Carnival the "wet" track putting him out of action.

King's Justice holds the record of having started 13 times during the first half and he certainly has no objection to any sort of going. After trying hard for three years, it was a local jockey who steered Bistro to victory in the Garrison Oup and for this Mr. S. Y. Liang deserves a good pat on the back.

Tiny Star under the able guidance of Mr. D. S. Li ran well to annex the Royal Navy Cup, but, Mrs. Pearco's Wadebridge, who was the champion sub-griffin of last year failed to strike his usual form and finished the season with no win to his credit.

Rose-Queen won the handsome Chater Cup for the Singapore millionaire Mr. Eu Tong-sen and it was, to my estimation one of those surprise

ALL "SEEDED" PLAYERS IN THREE SETS WIMBLEDON

London, June 25. Jean Borotra, volațile · Frenchman hero of a hundred famous tennis buttles and the world's busiest tennis player, staged a characteristic appearance at Wimbledon to-day, arriving in the changing room at 2 o'clock after a dash across the Channel, and after taking four minutes in which to change into his flanhels, helped Jacques Brugnon to beat H. Fisher and F. Kukuljevitch in the second round of the men's doubles.

Almost immediately afterwards J. Borotra and J. Brugnon Borotra was called upon to play with (France) beat H. Fisher (Switzer- Miss Susan Noel in the mixed doubles, land) and F. He polished Van Ryn off in 40 minutes by means of super volleying and fine smashing, while time and again he left the American laughing and shaking his head helplessly with scintillating sideliners. H. W. Austin advanced at the expense of C. R. D. Tuckey with the loss of six games over three sets, while Boussus, France's No. 1 could take but nine games from Von Cramm, "Bitsy" Grant had a cake-walk against E. R. One of the best performances of the day was that of H. G. N. Lee, ex-Davis, Cup player, who beat H. A. Stedman, New Zealand champion, in straight sets.

Vivian McGrath did not have an easy time against del Castillo, the Argentine Davis Cup star , being taken to four sets before winning, the final set going to 22 games. Donald Budge was in impressive form to sweep Martin Lesueur of France off the court with the loss of three games, while Eric Maier, of Spain enjoyed a simple victory against G. B. WITH picturesque ceremony, in accordance with the precedent of centuries, the Coronation was proclaimed in London this month.

Four times the proclamation was read—first from a balcony in Friary Court, St. James's; then at Charing Cross; thirdly at the corner of Fleet-street and Chancery-lane; and finally at the Royal Exchange. The heralds rode in procession from point to point, and a fifth picturesque ceremony was their reception by the Lord Mayor at Temple Bar.

To Pass Off Bad Coins CROWN ALLEGATION IN SESSIONS CASE

Long Trek

That the accused undertook shopping expedition solely for the express purpose of passing off bad coins was the submission made by Mr. M. J. Abbott, Assistant Crown Solicitor, at the Criminal Sessions this morning when he prosecuted Leung Kaval-siu and Lee Yin, a woman, on charges of possessing and uttering counterfelt. Hongkeng ten-cent pieces.

The first 'negused was alleged to have in his possession/eight counterfeit ten-cent pleces and the woman 26, and they were also alleged to have attered some of them at no less than four shops in Taipo Market on April 16 last.

The case was tried by the Chief Justice, Sir Atholf MacGregor, with the assistance of the following jury: --- Messrs. W. C. Felshow (foreman) J. S. Smith, L. J. S. Glendinning, decisively, eight to four. Carleton and Assembly of the League of J. R. Canning, V. M. Barradas, Lei Tet-che and IL. W. Pederson.

Mr. Abbott said he would not offer any evidence against the first necused in respect of the charge of possession, and His Lordship thereupon directed the jury to return a verdict of "Not Guilty" on this count Int the conclusion of the hearing.

Outlining the facts of the case, Mr. Abbott said the accused were arrested in Taipo on April 16 when they were undertaking a shopping Lord Stanhope, Parliamentary that they should have gone all the way to Taipo to do their shopping camphor balls, hair-pins, etc.—could
